Greetings. On behalf of the Student Committee, I would like to propose an idea for the school event devoted to the Year of the Family. I hope we can reach mutual agreement on its structure and organization. Allow me to outline the specifics.

The name of the event that we've come up with is "The games of our childhood." The idea is that we should invite students' parents to organize games that they used to play in the past. We will collect their individual ideas and form a plan, which will be sent to you for approval. We expect their commitment to the idea so that shouldn't be a problem. In general, all we need is access to classrooms and possibly the school gym. Most of the necessary equipment should be provided by students and parents. There is also possibility for an opening ceremony, which would be good for encouraging parents and organizing them in one place beforehand. We suggest to arrange the event during ~~the week~~ a weekend, as it would be most accessible for most participants.

Overall, the idea behind our proposition is to allow parents to reminisce and teach children about their past in a fun and healthy manner. This would also contribute to the strength of family bonds in each individual family, as it would allow to elaborate on those traditions and values outside of school's walls.

The Student Committee is open to any corrections and further discussion. We want to organize an event that is plausible within school's boundaries while remaining exciting for everyone.
